AAr Mehefin 16ed cynhaliwyd seminar Deialog ar draws ffiniau i ystyried Dadgoloneiddio Daearyddiaeth Bwyd dros Zoom. Trefnwyd y gyfres seminarau gan Grŵp Ymchwil Daearyddiaeth Bwyd fel diwyddiad am ddim.

Cyflwynodd Carwyn Graves sgwrs am arferion a pholisi dadgoloneiddio bwydydd a thir ffermio trwy archwilio hanes a threftadaeth bwyafwydd y gorffennol. Ystyriwyd pryderon argaeledd bwyd y presennol a heriau yn y dyfodol trwy ymchwil Natasha Toone ar Nodau Llesiant Llywodraeth Cymru ar gyfer iechyd, cyfiawnder a ffyniant a drafodwyd wedi ei seilio ar ymchwil yn Nwyrain Gogledd Cymru yn gosod cyd-destun i'r ddeialog ddwyieithog hon. A chafwyd mewnbwn oedd yn integreiddio gwaith ymarferwyr bwyd lleol a chynhyrchwyr fel Maggie Ogunbanwo (Maggie's An African Twist to Your Everyday Dish) a sgwrs gan Olwen Ford, Fferm Llan i gyd yn ystyried bwyd, tir a phŵer.

Roedd y dialog hon yn gyfle i glywed lleisiau a safbwytiau newydd ac eang fel Sam Robinson (Bugail o Ganolbarth Cymru). A chafwyd cyflwyniad am sofraniaeth ac argaeledd tir a phrofiadau cymunedol yn yr Alban gan Dr. Alastair McIntosh, awdur Soil and Soul. Trafododd Dr. Glenda Thomas (FWAGCymru) yr heriau i ffermydd teuluol sy'n gysylltiedig â newid cymorth ffermio yng Nghymru.

Yn ystod y prynhawn cafwyd trafodaeth banel o dan gadeiryddiaeth Robat Idris ar Dir, Bwyd a Phŵer oedd yn trafod cyfiawnder cymdeithasol ac amgylcheddol o fewn cydestyn proses dadgoloneiddio a fu'n sbardun i'r gyfres hon o seminarau cydweithredol ar draws pedair Prifysgol a Sefydliad Datblygu.

Roedd y sesiwn olaf yn gofyn i'r gyfranogwyr ymrwymo i dri cam cyraeddadwy i gefnogi'r broses dadgoloneiddio yn eu Gwaith ymchwil, datblygu ac addysgu bwyd neu ysgolheictod yn bersonol ac yn broffesiynol ar draws ffiniau sefydliadol a disgyblaeth.

Ariennir y gyfres gan y Gymdeithas Ddaearyddol Frenhinol a'r Sefydliad Ymchwil Gymdeithasol Annibynnol.

SUMMARY

Bangor University Adnodd Group hosted the bilingual 4th Dialogues in Decolonising Food Geographies, a collaborative series organised by Food Geographies Research Group (FGRG) via Zoom as a free to attend event. Speakers address decolonising practice and policy through exploring past coloniality, present concerns and future challenges. The seminar included local food practitioners, producers Maggie Ogunbanwo, Maggie's An African Twist to Your Everyday Dish® and Olwen Ford, Llan Farm to explore food, land and power. Welsh Governments' Future Wellbeing Goals challenges for health, justice and prosperity were the context for Natasha Toone's research on food in-access in North East Wales.

Unheard voices informed the inclusive dialogue shaped by the commitment of decolonising practice and inclusivity within food and farming community. Carwyn Graves, explored Welsh food heritage and decoloniality. Experiences of land sovereignty in Wales discussed by Sam Robinson (Shepherd from Mid Wales) and land and community experiences in Scotland were shared by Dr. Alastair McIntosh, author of Soil and Soul. Challenges to family farms posed by changing farming support in Wales discussed by Dr. Glenda Thomas (FWAG Cymru).

During the afternoon a panel discussion chaired by Robat Idris on Land, Food and Power discussed social and environmental justice framed by the Decolonising Food Geographies process which has been the driver for this series of collaborative seminars across four Universities and Development Institutions.

The final session involved participants committing to three achievable actions to support the process of decolonising food research, development and teaching and scholarship personally and professionally across institutional and disciplinary boundaries.

Outcomes from this seminar will feed into the Royal Geographical Society's annual conference in August- September 2021. The series is funded by the Royal Geographical Society and Independent Social Research Foundation.

CYNNWYS

Yn ystod y prynhawn bu trafodaeth banel dan gadeiryddiaeth Robat Idris ar Dir, Bwyd a Pŵer yn trafod cyfiawnder cymdeithasol ac amgylcheddol, Cafodd hyn ei fframio gan y broses Dadgloneiddio/dadwladoli Daearyddiaeth Bwyd sydd wedi bod yn sbardun i'r gyfres hon o seminarau cydweithredol ar draws pedair Prifysgol a Sefydliad Datblygu. Heriau Nodau Llesiant Llywodraeth Cymru ar gyfer iechyd, cyfiawnder a ffyniant oedd y cyd-destun ar gyfer ymchwil Natasha Toone ar fwyd mewn mynediad yng Ngogledd-ddwyrain Cymru.

Roedd y sesiwn olaf yn cynnwys cyfranogwyr yn ymrwymo i dri cham gweithredu cyraeddadwy i gefnogi'r broses o ddadgoloneiddio ymchwil, datblygu ac addysgu bwyd ac ysgolheictod yn bersonol ac yn broffesiynol ar draws ffiniau sefydliadol a disgynnu.

Bydd canlyniadau'r seminar hwn yn bwydo i mewn i gynhadledd flynyddol y Gymdeithas Ddaearyddol Frenhinol rhwng Awst a Medi 2021.

Geiriau y byddech chi'n eu defnyddio i ddisgrifio treftadaeth bwyd Cymru Words you would use to describe Welsh food heritage

Awgrymiadau ar gyfer dadgoloneiddio systemau bwyd yng Nghymru: Oddi wrth tlodi tuag at fynediad teg at fwyd da

Suggestions for decolonising food systems in Wales: Away from poverty towards fair access to good food

Listening more to people on the ground their wants and needs.
Respect

More joined up thinking across policy which is built and evidence informed

More decentralised control

Public empowerment

Freedom

More collaboration stronger in numbers

Bridging the gap

Bringing in international and historical perspectives - to see ourselves anew

More inclusivity

Reflection on our roots and learning from the past

Looking forward inclusively and sustainably

Stop subsidising fossil fuels, favouring food that travels a short distance.

More power to the people

Pa 3 cam gallwn ni eu cymeryd i weithio tuag at dadgoloneiddio?

What 3 actions can I/we do to encourage/implement decolonialisation?

1. Be more reflexive and inclusive 2. Encourage more collaboration 3. Hear and acknowledge all voices	Be reflexive and encourage reflexivity in others.	1. Parhau i ymchwilio i hanes bwyd Cymru a hyrwyddo dealltwriaeth 2. Dod i nabod rhagor ffermwyr lleol 3. Dod i nabod mwy o bobl leol o gefndiroedd gwahanol i mi
Encourage policy change for the benefit of the people	Support access of people of colour and community groups into food networks	Engage in discussions about rights and responsibilities in food. Especially responsibilities.
Encourage BAME publicity within media and good new stories	Support access of people with lived experiences to shape food policies	Speak up, and speak out
1.Trio dylanwadu ar y polisi amaeth sydd i ddod 2. Wneud mwy yn y cymdeithas, efo teulu, cymdogion a ffriندiau. 3.	Cynhyrchu bwyd ar gyfer ein cymunedau. Gofalu am bywyd wylt. Canu	Increase support and opportunity for Diversity
1. Datblygu rhwydweithiau oddi mewn i Gymru ac yn rhwngwladol 2. Siarad efo pobl sy ddim fel arfer yn cael eu cynnwys 3. Cynnwys bwyd yng nghyddestun cyflawnder.	Bring decolonial perspectives into food geographies teaching in Universities	Consider all perspectives and encourage more involvement
Be aware of intersectionality when then thinking about and talking about diversity.	Encourage deep thinking and have difficult conversations in safe spaces	More voices the better
Learn more about the history and the implications of it for the future	Ask more questions!	Listen and take on board
		As Sam said evolution not revolution

SYLWADAU

Mae polisi a gweledigaeth wleidyddol bresennol yn y dyfodol ar gyfer ffermio a bwyd ym Mhrydain yn parhau i fod yn un o gadwyni cyflenwi rhyngwladol. Ac eto, heriwyd hyn yn ddiweddar gan y Strategaeth Fwyd Genedlaethol, yn bennaf o safbwyt cyfiawnder bwyd a lles dietegol. Felly mae dyfodol aneglur o'n blaenau ar gyfer ffermio traddodiadol mwy helaeth yng Nghymru a'r Alban.

Cafodd y posibilrwydd hwn sy'n deillio o Brexit a bargeinion masnach yn y dyfodol ei fframio fel ail-wladychu. Ei ganlyniadau o drafodaethau ar dir, bwyd a phŵer sy'n deillio o dirweddau ffermio ymylol, brodorol a helaeth yn ddaearyddol. Bydd coloniaeth barhaus o'r fath yn gwanhau buddiannau traddodiadol a chynhenid y tir, mynediad i fwyd a chynaliadwyedd ehangach ymhellach.

Daeth y seminar i ben gydag ymrwymiad gan y rhai a oedd yn bresennol i ymgymryd â 3 cham ymlaen i ddatgysylltu daearyddiaethau bwyd a ddangosir yn y Menti Poll uchod. Mae'n amlwg bod angen llawer mwy o waith i sefydlu blaenorriaethau a chamau'r broses o ddadgoloneiddio daearyddiaeth bwyd ond mae'r seminar hon wedi gallu archwilio sut y gall hyn ddechrau o'r ymylon daearyddol. Mae angen iddo lifo drwy ysgolion a Phrifysgolion yn gyflym os yw am ganiatáu dyfodol tecach i ffermio a bwyd ar draws gwledydd Prydain a thu hwnt drwy grwpiau ymchwil a datblygu sy'n gweithio ar faterion tebyg iawn mewn ardaloedd yn y De Byd Eang fel Ghana.

Mae'r seminar hon yn fan cychwyn ar gyfer y gwaith pellach hwn o edrych ar ddaearyddiaethau bwyd mwy ymylol sy'n darparu gwersi allweddol ar arferion cynaliadwy a chyfrifol. Ond mae yma hefyd gyfle i drafod cewstynnau pwysig o gynwysoldeb a ymbweru cymunedol wrth ystyried sofraniaeth bwyd a thir fel a welwyd yng Nghymru a'r Alban.

REFLECTIONS

Current future policy and political vision for farming and food in Britain continues to be that of international supply chains. Yet this has been recently challenged by The National Food Strategy, predominantly from a food justice and dietary wellbeing perspective. Thus an unclear future is ahead for more extensive traditional Welsh and Scottish farming.

This possibility arising from Brexit and future trade deals was framed as a re-colonisation. Its outcomes drawn from discourses of land, food and power arising from geographically marginal, indigenous and extensive farming landscapes. Such continued coloniality acts to further weaken traditional and indigenous land based interests, food access and wider sustainability.

The seminar concluded with a commitment by attendees to undertake 3 steps forward to decolonising food Geographies shown in the Menti Poll above. It is clear that much more work is needed to establish priorities and stages of the decolonising food geography process but this seminar has been able to explore how this can start from the geographical margins and needs to flow through schools and Universities fast if it is to allow a fairer future for farming and food across the countries of Britain and beyond through research and development groups working on very similar issues in global south countries such as Ghana.

This seminar is a starting point for this further work looking at more marginal food geographies which provide key lessons on sustainable and responsible practices within food geography but also raise significant concerning questions of inclusiveness and disempowerment of rural communities relating to food and land sovereignty as exemplified in Wales and Scotland.
